

The Contributors

Kelly Louise Rexzy Agra is an MA in Philosophy candidate at the University of Santo Tomas. Currently an instructor in philosophy at the University of the Philippines–Baguio, she is doing research on the philosophy of Alain Badiou. <klr.agra@yahoo.com>

Albert E. Alejo, S.J. is a Jesuit poet, priest, and peace activist. He is actively engaged in fighting corruption, integrity promotion, Christian-Muslim dialogue and indigenous people's rights advocacy in the Philippines. He holds a doctorate in Social Anthropology from SOAS, University of London and is currently teaching at the Loyola School of Theology, Ateneo de Manila University. His recent publications include Nabighani (UST, 2015), a book of translations of mystical poems, and Ehemplo: Spirituality of Shared Integrity in Philippine Church and Society, 2nd ed. (Institute of Spirituality in Asia, 2016). <paringbert@yahoo.com>

Victor R. Baltazar, S.J., a member of the Society of Jesus, is currently missioned as Executive Director of the Center for Ignatian Spirituality (CIS-PHILS), a Jesuit Philippine Province ministry tasked to promote Ignatian spirituality in the institutional life and collaborative ministries of apostolic institutes that profess Ignatian spirituality. He holds a licentiate degree in Theology, majoring in Ignatian Spirituality, in Loyola School of Theology and has undertaken doctoral courses in Spiritual Theology at the Pontifical Gregorian University. <baltazar@jesuits.net>

Noelle Leslie dela Cruz is an associate professor of philosophy at De La Salle University (Manila). She has coedited the 2011 book Feminista: Race, Class, and Gender in the Philippines. Her most recent research is an unpublished manuscript on the hermeneutical phenomenology of sequential art, in which she applies Paul Ricoeur's interpretive method as a way of bringing out existentialist issues in popular graphic narratives. In 2009, she received the First Prize for poetry in the prestigious Philippines Free Press Literary Awards, for her ekphrastic poem entitled "Discourse." She specializes in existential phenomenology, feminist philosophy, and philosophy of literature. <avalon.rain@gmail.com>

Roger Haight, S.J. is a notable theologian and a member of the Society of Jesus. He was a former president of the Catholic Theological Society of America and has been part of Jesuit faculties of theology in Manila, Chicago, Toronto, and Cambridge, Massachusetts. He is currently a Scholar in Residence at Union Theological Seminary in New York. He is the author of numerous books including Jesus Symbol of God (2000), the three-volume opus Christian Community in History (2004, 2005, 2008), The Future of Christology (2007), and more recently, Christian Spirituality For Seekers: Reflections on the Spiritual Exercises of Ignatius Loyola (2012) and Spirituality Seeking Theology (2014). <rogerdhaight@gmail.com>

Rizalino Noble Malabed is an assistant professor of political science at the Department of Social Sciences, University of the Philippines–Los Banos. He is also a PhD student in the Department of Philosophy, University of the Philippines–Diliman. <taga.taaw@gmail.com>

Peter Murphy is professor of arts and society at James Cook University, Australia. He is the author of The Collective Imagination (2012), Universities and Innovation Economies (2015), and Auto-Industrialism (forthcoming). <peter.murphy@jcu.edu.au>

Jeffrey Ocay is an associate professor of philosophy and currently the Associate Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Silliman University. His current research focuses on the applicability of the Frankfurt School Critical Theory to societies at the margins, especially the indigenous communities in Southeast Asia. <jeffry.v.ocay@gmail.com>

Raniel SM. Reyes is a member of the faculty of philosophy, University of Santo Tomas. He is also a PhD in Philosophy candidate at the Graduate School in the same university. His article is part of his dissertation research project entitled, "A Reconstruction of Gilles Deleuze's Micropolitics and a Cartography of Becoming-Revolutionary in the Philippines." His areas of interest include sociopolitical philosophy, critical theory, Friedrich Nietzsche, Karl Marx, and Gilles Deleuze. <ranielreyes1986@gmail.com>